WILLY BRANDT
CENTER
JERUSALEM

Monday, March 27, 5:00 p.m. (17:00)

The occasion is the the visit of the section for Human Geography of University of Hamburg Willy Brandt Center brings together local experts and activists for a critical exchange on the subject of Jerusalem.

The idea is to gather activists and experts on the history, development and status of Jerusalem to exchange and discuss. Several NGO's as well as academics will provide both perspectives, academic and activistic.

The focus of the discussion will be placed on the division of the city and how to overcome it. The aim is to elucidate the big questions characterizing this unique city. Reflecting on a vision for this city will include revising the role of NGOs and the one of academia and what kinds of intervention make sense in these times.
